What is the Maine Children's Cancer Program?

Maine Children's Cancer Program

We are a team of 24 doctors, nurses, and support staff available around the clock to meet the medical care, clinical research, and psycho-social support needs of our children and families. Our mission is to not only cure cancer in as many children as possible, but to support children and their families through their difficult and stressful journey of living with childhood cancer.

Each year, more than 50 children with cancer are newly diagnosed and treated by the staff at the Maine Children's Cancer Program. The average course of the intense treatment is between two and four years.

Approximately 200 children are in various stages of active treatment at the Maine Children's Cancer Program at any given time, coming in weekly and sometimes daily for care.
